Sharon Dunn, PT, PhD
Board-Certified Orthopaedic Clinical Specialist

Sharon Dunn is the Dean of the School of Allied Health Professions and Professor of Rehabilitation Sciences at LSU Health Shreveport. Sharon’s research interests include conservative clinical approaches to the management of common musculoskeletal conditions and translational research of applied mechanical loading to healing tissue to determine dosing effects the ultimate functional and biomechanical tissue integrity. Dr. Dunn previously served on the PT faculty and as program director, teaching professional issues, anatomy, biomechanics, and orthopaedic PT. Her clinical practice and board specialty is in the area of orthopaedics. Throughout her career, Dr. Dunn has been professionally engaged in efforts to promote public policies to enhance the public’s access to high quality health services and excellence in practice delivery. She is currently serving as president of the American Physical Therapy Association and has significant experience in health policy and collaborative approaches to health delivery. She advocates for a team-based approach and patient-centered management for better health in our communities.
Julie A. Peterson, PT, DPT
Board-Certified Women’s Health Clinical Specialist

Julie Peterson is the director of Creighton Therapy and Wellness, and Creighton Pediatric Therapy in Omaha, Nebraska, as well as an assistant professor in the Department of Physical Therapy at Creighton University’s School of Pharmacy and Health Professions. Peterson also serves as the director of physical therapy residency programs for Creighton University and is a mentor in the Women’s Health Residency Program. She previously owned and operated Peterson Physical Therapy PC in Omaha, a physical therapy clinic specializing in women’s and men’s health. Peterson earned her DPT from Creighton University and her bachelor’s degree in Biology from Marquette University in 1997. She is certified in biofeedback for pelvic muscle dysfunctions and has extensive experience in treating patients with pelvic pain, bowel and bladder disorders, sexual dysfunctions, and childhood bladder and bowel disorders. She has served on the Women’s Health Specialty Council, and as a member of the Specialization Academy of Content Experts.
ABPTS History

APTA’s House of Delegates approved the concept of specialization in 1976 and established the Task Force on Clinical Specialization.

As each of the specialty areas was recognized by the House of Delegates, ABPTS appointed a specialty council that identified and defined advanced skills, established eligibility criteria, and developed the examination.

The Specialty Council on Cardiopulmonary Physical Therapy was the first to complete the process and the cardiopulmonary specialist certification examination in 1985. Since then, 9 additional specialty areas have been established:

- Clinical Electrophysiology Physical Therapy (1986)
- Geriatrics Physical Therapy (1992)
- Neurology Physical Therapy (1987)
- Oncology Physical Therapy (2016)
- Orthopaedics Physical Therapy (1989)
- Pediatrics Physical Therapy (1986)
- Sports Physical Therapy (1987)
- Women's Health Physical Therapy (2009)

The purposes of APTA's Clinical Specialization program are to:

- Assist in the identification and development of appropriate areas of specialty practice in physical therapy.
- Promote the highest possible level of care for individuals seeking physical therapist services in each specialty area.
- Promote development of the science and the art underlying each specialty area of practice.
- Provide a reliable and valid method for certification and recertification of individuals who have attained an advanced level of knowledge and skill in each specialty area.
- Assist consumers, the health care community, and others in identifying certified clinical specialists in each specialty area.
- Serve as a resource in specialty practice for APTA, the physical therapy profession, and the health care community.

Recognition of 2020 Newly Certified and Recertified Specialists

The American Board of Physical Therapy Specialties is pleased to honor the 2495 individuals who attained certification and 704 individuals who recertified during 2020. All of the newly certified clinical specialists have successfully built on a broad base of professional education and practice to develop greater depth of knowledge and skills related to a particular area of practice. It is significant to note that more than 30,000 individuals have achieved the distinction of becoming board-certified clinical specialists in physical therapy.

Clinical specialization in physical therapy addresses a specific area of patient need. It requires knowledge, skill, and clinical experience that exceeds that of the physical therapist upon entry into the profession and is unique to the specialized area of practice. Objectives of the clinical specialization program include promoting the highest possible level of care for individuals seeking physical therapist services in each specialty area; assisting consumers, the health care community, and others in identifying certified clinical specialists in each specialty area; and promoting the development of the science and the art underlying each specialty practice.

The clinical specialist certification program assists in the identification and development of appropriate areas of specialty practice in physical therapy and formally recognizes physical therapists that have attained specialization. Since ABPTS began certifying clinical specialists in 1985, a total of 30,041 physical therapists have become certified clinical specialists. The American Physical Therapy Association and ABPTS congratulate the individuals who have attained certification and the specialists who recertified as clinical specialists during 2020.
